mer-ri-ly, mer-rily roam. Come my bride break the mermaid's sleep With a song of thy highland home On the deep they stand, My gal-lant band To guard thee love o'er the sea To the spi-cy isles where the bright sun smiles With his gold-en fruits for thee On the deep they stand my gal-lant band To Away! Away! o'er the boundless deep We'll merrily, merrily roam Cheer up my bonny bride, nor weep

 For the joys of thy highland home
 In the land of the rose, where the ruby glows
 With a thousand gems as bright I'll deck thy brow, As the moon does now
 With her fairy beams of light.
